

Online Course

GEC-AARP – Observing and Addressing Financial and Material Exploitation of Older Adults

Welcome

This course was produced through collaboration between the University of New England Maine Geriatric Education Center and AARP. The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Health Resources and Services Administration, Grant Number D31HP80016 provided partial funding for this project.

Course Description:

Consisting of nine modules, this course was developed for health professionals, health professions faculty and students who want to have a better understanding of financial and material exploitation/abuse against older adults—whether committed by family members, friends, individuals in a position of trust, strangers or caregivers. Financial and material exploitation occurs when there is an illegal use of a vulnerable individual's resources for another person's profit or gain. Each module of this CME Course is approved for 1.5 Category 1B AOA, Category 1 AMA PRA Credits and UNE contact hours by the University of New England College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Contact information for course registration and or questions:

UNE-MGEC

207-221-4460

The e-mail address for this GEC/AARP course is:

mainegec@une.edu

Directions for course registration:

Please call Marla Ryder at 207-221-4460 or e-mail mainegec@une.edu to register for the GEC-AARP Course. You will receive a user name and password and can then begin the course after accessing the following address: <http://www.une.edu/mainegec/online/courses>. If you experience any technical problems or have any further questions regarding registration or UNE-MGEC online course information contact 207-221-4460 or e-mail mainegec@une.edu

For more information about the UNE-MGEC Contact

Judith A. Metcalf, APRN, BC, MS

Director, University of New England Maine Geriatric Education Center

University of New England

Center for Community Health Innovation and Research

716 Stevens Avenue

Portland, Maine 04103-2670

Phone 207-221-4459

e-mail: jmetcalf@une.edu